Lap Band Aided Stomach

Prior to undergoing her lap band surgery, Marla noted that she had an endoscopy done shortly before and it showed that she was dealing with a stomach irritation. As soon as that problem cleared up, Marla went ahead with the plans for surgery and so she could be one of the many that could say Lap Band Proved Successful.

Her lap band surgeon called her right after Christmas to say they could do the lap band surgery. While it has taken Marla some time to recover from the lap band surgery, she said she was doing better and feels the lap band surgery was a good procedure for those qualified individuals who are battling health issues.
